

Central Park Running Map

Offering both hilly and flat terrain, and a combination of surfaces, Central Park is a runner's paradise. Take this map with you on your next run in the Park!

There are three optimal places to run in Central Park:

- Reservoir Running Track: A soft surface made of crushed gravel, the Stephanie and Fred Shuman Reservoir Running Track is a 1.58-mile loop offering some of Central Park's best views of the Midtown skyline. Please run only in a counterclockwise direction around the track. Dogs, strollers, and bikes are not allowed on the track at any time.
- Bridle Path: If you're looking for a soft, dirt surface to run on, the bridle path is for you. A 1.66-mile loop surrounds the Reservoir running track. Dogs must always be on-leash on the bridle path.
- Park Drives: Circling the entire Park, the paved drives provide the longest routes. The drives are shared by runners, walkers, skaters, horse carriages, and more, and they can be very congested on weekends and nice days.
